

Extra activities

Hello!

● Extra activity 1: What's his/her/its name?

Teach the following chant to the class. First they perform as a whole class and then in two groups, one group asking and the other responding. Then divide students into groups. They create their own versions of the chant, substituting key words. They perform for the class: one student giving the information and the rest of the group asking the questions.

I have a sister.

I have a horse.

What's her name?

What's its name?

Her name's Emma, and she's ten. Its name's Blacky, and it's white.

● Extra activity 2: Who's who?

Hand out two strips of paper to each student. They write the third sentence from Workbook Activity 2 (I have a ...) on one strip and the fourth (I like ...) on the other strip. Put students into groups of four. They place the strips face down on the table and mix them around. Students take turns flipping over a strip, reading it aloud, and guessing whose it is. Each student gets a point for a correct guess. When they have guessed for all the sentences, make new groups of four and repeat. Remind them of the classroom language, e.g., Yes, that's right / that's me. / Wrong!

Page 5

● Extra activity 1: Find the number

Write the numbers eleven through twenty in words at random on the board.

Divide the class into two or three teams, depending on the size of the class.

They line up one behind the other facing the board. Give a rolled-up newspaper to students at the front of each team. Call a number, e.g., Fifteen. Students run to hit the correct word. Award a point to the student who hits the right word first. The students go to the back of the line. Hand the newspapers to the students at the front of the line and continue until all the students have had a turn. The team with the most points is the winner.

● Extra activity 2: Spell it

Students close their books. Hand out photocopies of the alphabet cards from Kid's Box AE Teacher's Resource Book 3, page 80 (one copy per student). Students cut along the dotted lines to make cards.

Divide the class into pairs. Pairs put together their alphabet cards so they have one of each letter. Spell out the word c-a-m-e-r-a. Students work with their partner to arrange the alphabet cards to make the word on their desks. Monitor. Elicit spelling and write camera on the board for students to check. Students mix up their cards. Spell out kite, monster, and doll for students to make the three words with their cards in the same way. Pairs compare their words with other pairs. Check with the class. Students mix up their cards. Repeat with bike and truck. Then repeat for helicopter, game, train, and computer. Note: It is important for students to mix up their cards between the groups/pairs of words, as they only have two of each letter of the alphabet in their set of cards (so they can't arrange the letters for, e.g., computer and helicopter at the same time, as they would need three letter "e"s).

If you do not wish to use the alphabet cards, students do a similar activity with paper and pen. They close their books and work individually. They write numbers 1–10 down the side of the page. Spell out ten words from the lesson, e.g., 1 d-o-l-l, 2 g-a-m-e. Spell each word once. Students check their words in groups. Elicit one answer from each group. They must spell the word back to you. Other groups can help if the group makes a mistake.

● Extra activity 1: Making patterns

Write the following words on the board at random: jumping, reading, sitting, drinking, listening, eating, playing, writing, talking, kicking, hitting, painting, riding, doing, showing. Above each word, write its infinitive. Quickly check understanding of the words.

Draw three columns on the board. At the top of one, write write/writing. At the top of another, write jump/jumping. At the top of the third, write sit/sitting. Put students into groups of three.

They draw the columns in their notebooks and then place the other words in the right columns. Monitor students as they are working. Check with the class and elicit what's different about the spelling of each group of words.

Key: Write/writing: ride/riding

Jump/jumping: read/reading, drink/drinking, listen/listening, eat/eating, play/playing, talk/talking, kick/kicking, paint/painting, do/doing, show/showing

Sit/sitting: hit/hitting

● Extra activity 2: Scrambled questions

Display the large piece of paper with the scrambled questions/statements (see page T6, Materials required). Students work in pairs to unscramble them and write them correctly on a piece of paper. Give a time limit, e.g., five minutes. Pairs swap papers with other pairs. Correct as a class. Students correct each other's work. Make sure students read contractions (or not) correctly.

Elicit an answer to question 10.

Key: 1 She's drinking orange juice. 2 What is Suzy doing? 3 He is riding a bike. 4 What's Robert eating? 5 Is your friend playing baseball? 6 No, she isn't. 7 Eva is reading a book. 8 Scott's playing tennis. 9 Yes, he is. 10 What is your teacher doing?

● Extra activity 1: Magic pocket

Show students your bag or your pocket. Say, e.g., Listen. In my magic pocket I have a red ball, a yellow pencil, a green ruler, a small book, and a fat doll. Pause. Tell students not to write anything down. Say What do I have in my magic pocket? Elicit the objects.

They don't have to be in the right order. Students work in pairs and write a list of five things in their magic pocket/bag. They take turns saying them to the class for the class to remember.

● Extra activity 2: Put them in order

Students work in pairs. Elicit the toys from the lesson and other toys the students know. Write them on a mind map on the board, with Toys in the center. Students work in pairs. They copy down the toys in their notebooks, writing them in alphabetical order. Before they start, check they remember how to sequence, e.g., ball, bike. Check with the class by eliciting and then writing the correct list down the side of the board.

● Extra activity 1: Find the word

Display the three color flashcards blue, red, and pink (or colored pieces of thin cardboard) around the classroom, on different walls. Students stand up. Say Listen and point to the color. Call out a word that rhymes with one of the colors, e.g., drink. Students point to the right color (e.g., pink). Continue with the following words, repeating some to make it fun and challenging: you, Ted, think, head, Sue, true, sink, bed, two. Students who point to the wrong color sit down until the end of the game. Stop when you have a small group of winners.

● Extra activity 2: My class

Using the information from each group in Workbook page 8, Activity 11, collate the information from the charts onto the board as a bar chart. Show/remind students how to make a bar chart. Students copy the chart into their books and color the different bars in different colors.

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Make groups of four. Elicit from students who the four characters in the story are (answering machine voice, cat owner, Lock, Key). Students decide roles in their groups. Play the CD again. Pause after each frame. Students repeat their section in character. Encourage students to say their lines with feeling. Students continue to practice the role play in their groups. Confident students can perform their role plays for the class.

● Extra activity 2: Spelling race

Display the large piece of paper with the 12 scrambled words from the unit. In pairs, students race to unscramble the words and write them correctly on a piece of paper. Pairs swap papers. Check by eliciting the spelling for each word as you write it on the board. Pairs check and mark another pair's work. The pairs with the most correct words are the winners.

Unit 1

● Extra activity 1: Family game

Students draw their own family trees. Students work individually and write four statements about their family trees for others to respond to, e.g., She's my aunt's daughter. Working in groups of four, they take turns placing their family tree on the table and reading their statements aloud. The other students individually write the answers. They get one point for each correct answer. When all four students have had a turn, the student with the most correct answers is the winner of the group.

● Extra activity 2: True or false

You will need space for this activity. Draw a line or place a piece of tape across the center of the room. Students stand on one side of the line. When you say a sentence that is true, they don't move. If it's false, they jump to the other side of the line. Students who make a mistake are out. Continue until you have a small group of winners.

Ideas for sentences: A helicopter can fly. A bus doesn't have wheels. Planes can't fly. A bike has two wheels. Sally's mom is Mrs. Star. Scott's Grandpa Star's granddaughter. Scott doesn't have an uncle.

Page 11

● Extra activity 1: Questions and answers

Students write the questions and answers from Student's Book Activity 6 in their notebooks.

● Extra activity 2: Chant

Teach the following chant to the students. They make an enclosing motion with their arms when chanting We're all family. Divide the class into four groups. Each group chants a verse.

Groups swap verses. Repeat.

Uncles, aunts, parents, children,	Sons and daughters, moms and dads,
We're all family.	We're all family.

Yes, we are.

Yes, we are.

We have grandparents,

They have grandchildren,

One, two, three, four.

One, two, three, four.

We have grandparents,

They have grandchildren,

Yes, we do.

Yes, they do.

Page 12

● Extra activity: Catch and say

Demonstrate the activity first. Say, e.g., I have an apple. Student A says, e.g., I want to eat it! Student A makes another statement, e.g., I have a camera. Student B says, e.g., I want to take a picture!

Make groups of 6–8 students. Each group stands in a circle. Give a scrunched-up ball of paper to one student in each group. This student starts. He/she makes a statement using I have and throws the ball to another student in the group. This student responds making a statement with I want to. The same student then makes another statement using I have and throws the ball to another student in the circle. The game continues in the same way.

● Extra activity 1: My family

Students write at least two of their sentences from Student's Book Activity 12 in their notebooks. They draw a picture to match the description.

● Extra activity 2: Spelling game

Draw a 3 x 3 grid on the board and stick a colored square in each one. Students close their books. Make two teams: A and B. Team A chooses a color. They must spell it correctly. If they do, remove the color and place an X in the square. If they don't, leave the color in the square. Repeat for Team B, but draw an O in the square for them. The first team to get a line of Xs or Os is the winner.

● Extra activity 1: Bingo!

Write the following activities on the board: watching TV, cleaning the house, taking pictures, listening to music, playing games, riding your bike, eating chocolate, drinking milk. Next to each one, draw a simple symbol, e.g., a TV for watching TV, a camera for taking pictures. Students draw a 2 x 2 grid in their books and choose four activities they like doing. They draw one symbol in each square.

Say, e.g., Do you like cleaning the house? Students with the symbol say Yes, I do and cross it out. Continue until a student has crossed out all four and shouts Bingo! Check back by asking the winning student what he/she likes doing, e.g., I like cleaning the house. I like listening to music. Repeat.

● Extra activity 2: Stop!

Students work in groups of four, using the picture from Workbook Activity 10. Demonstrate the activity for the class. One student starts describing the picture and makes a deliberate mistake. Any student in the group who hears it says Stop! and continues the description. He/she makes a deliberate mistake and another student calls Stop! The game continues. Students get a point for calling Stop! when there is a mistake and lose a point for calling Stop! when there isn't. Check the winner(s) from each group.

Page 15

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Make groups of three. Elicit from students who the three characters in the story are (Lock, Key, lady). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

● Extra activity 2: Guess who

Hold one of the family flashcards so the class can't see it. Describe the person in the picture, e.g., It's a man. He has straight hair. He has brown hair. Students guess by raising their hands. The student who guesses correctly comes to the front, chooses a family flashcard, and describes it in the same way (hidden from the class). Repeat with all the family flashcards.

● Extra activity 1: Listen and draw

Do a picture dictation for the class. Say Listen and draw. Slowly read the following description, pausing for students to draw and color: This is a portrait. It's a man. I can only see his head. He's twenty years old. He has short curly hair. He has a big nose. He has green eyes. He's wearing a blue scarf. His mouth is small. He looks happy. Students compare their pictures in pairs and small groups.

● Extra activity 2: Self-portrait

Students draw a self-portrait. Tell them to draw their picture in secret. They write their name on the back. Set a time limit of five minutes. Display the self-portraits around the classroom. Students walk around the classroom and try to identify their classmates. Show one of the portraits. The student who drew it doesn't say who it is. Elicit sentences about the picture (e.g., He has dark hair. He's happy. He's wearing a blue sweater.) and guesses from the rest of the class (e.g., It's Victor). Repeat with different portraits.

Page 17

● Extra activity 1: Which portrait is it?

Students copy the description of their family portrait (from page T17, project) onto a separate piece of paper. Collect the descriptions of the portraits.

Display the family portraits from the project around the classroom. Hand the written descriptions out to students (students don't get their own descriptions). Students walk around the classroom and find the portrait to match the description they have been given. They stand by the portrait. When all students have found a match, check with the class. Students stick their descriptions under the correct portraits.

● Extra activity 2: Word train

Students look back through this and the previous lesson to find key words about the topic. Elicit the words from students and write them on the board, checking the meaning of each one. Possible words: portrait, self-portrait, artist, pictures, paint, paintings. Say We're going to start a word train. Put the paper with the engine drawn on it on the wall. Write the new words in the first "wagon" behind the engine.

● Extra activity 1: Chain game

Write Country on the board and elicit positive things about living there, e.g., There are a lot of trees. It's quiet. I can swim in the river. Draw a circle around Country and build a mind map of the ideas. Do the same for Town. Accept and encourage ideas from students. Say I like living in the country. It's quiet. Invite a student to continue (using the prompts on the board), e.g., I like living in the country. It's quiet, and I can play in the yard. Continue the chain by asking students at random. Students can't repeat the ideas. Start another chain about Town in the same way.

Students copy the mind maps into their notebooks.

● Extra activity 2: Match the word

Display the home flashcards on one side of the board, at a height your students can reach. Elicit the words. Display the word cards for Unit 2 (see Kid's Box AE 3 Teacher's Resource Book page 83) on the other side of the board, in random order. Call a volunteer to the board.

Say Make a pair. The student moves the correct word card next to one of the flashcards. Check with the class. Elicit the spelling. Repeat with the rest of the flashcards.

Page 19

● Extra activity 1: Letter chant

Do a letter chant with the class, e.g.,

Teacher: Give me an "f" Students: f

Teacher: Give me an "l" Students: l

Teacher: Give me an "o" Students: o

Teacher: Give me an "o" Students: o

Teacher: Give me an "r" Students: r

Teacher: What do you have? Students: floor

Tell students to think of other words on the same topic. Give them time to prepare. Invite students in turn to the front to lead the chant. They can have the word written to help them.

● Extra activity 2: My house/apartment

Students work individually. They copy the picture of their house/apartment from Workbook page 19 Activity 4. They label their picture.

Students work in pairs. Student A reads his/her text, and Student B looks at A's picture to check. Or students work in groups of four. They place the pictures face down on the table and mix them around. Students turn one over. They take turns reading their texts aloud and guessing which picture is theirs.

● Extra activity 1: Eva says ...

Play a game of "Eva says ..." to review colors. Say, e.g., Eva says hold up a blue pen (students hold a blue pen). Say e.g., Point to a white sock (students don't point). Continue reviewing the colors, as well as classroom objects.

● Extra activity 2: Word lines

Eight students come to the front of the class. Whisper a word from the unit to each student. They stand in a line in alphabetical order. They say their words in order, and the class checks. Repeat with different students and some (though not all) different words.

● Extra activity: Whisper and write

Make four teams. Teams line up facing the board. Whisper a different number between 11 and 100 to the students at the front of each team. Students whisper it back along the line and the student at the back comes and writes it on the board. Award 1 point for writing the number correctly (in words, not as a figure). Students from the front go to the back of the line. Repeat with different numbers.

● Extra activity 1: Nose or mouth?

Students stand up. Say Listen and point. Nose or mouth? Exaggerate the vowel sounds in nose and mouth as you speak. Repeat the instruction. Then say coat. Encourage students to point to their nose. Say Nose. Coat. They have the same sound. Say Listen and point. Nose or mouth? again. This time say the word clown. Students point to their mouth (encourage them to do so if they don't). Say Clown. Mouth. They have the same sound.

Say more words from the lesson with the sound /oʊ/ or /aʊ/, e.g., boat, yellow, goat, brown, coat, flower, town, cow, snow, out, window, cloud, throw, house, down. Students point to their nose or their mouth each time, according to the vowel sound.

● Extra activity 2: Board slap

Write the numbers twenty, thirty, etc., in words at random on the board. Point to each word and elicit the number from students. Make three or four teams. They line up one behind the other facing the board. Give a rolled-up newspaper to the first student in each team. Call out a number, e.g., Sixty. The first student to hit it with their paper wins a point for their team. Repeat. Don't erase the numbers already called – use them again to make the game more fun. The team with the most points is the winner. Students go back to their desks. Elicit the number for each word and write it underneath, e.g., sixty – 60.

Students copy the numbers and the words into their notebooks.

● Extra activity 1: Read and draw

Students draw a picture of the monster in the basement as Mrs. Potts describes it. They add their own features and then write a description. Confident students read their descriptions to the class and show their pictures.

● Extra activity 2: Role play

Make groups of three. Elicit from students who the three characters in the story are (Lock, Key, Mrs. Potts). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

Page 24

● Extra activity 1: Reorder the words

Write the following mixed-up sentences from Student's Book page 24, Activity 1 on the board:

1 tree I live a house in

2 have bedroom a My window doesn't

3 I living center city love the in the of

4 my close any There roads or to aren't house streets

Students work in pairs. They reorder the words and write the correct sentences in their notebooks. Check with the class.

Invite students to write the correct sentences on the board. Ask students if the sentences are true or false for them.

Key: 1 I live in a tree house. 2 My bedroom doesn't have a window. 3 I love living in the center of the city. 4 There aren't any streets or roads close to my house.

● Extra activity 2: Consequences

Write these prompts on the board: 1 where I live (city/country), 2 my house (apartment/house), 3 number of rooms, 4 number of people in my family, 5 pets. Elicit an example for each one (e.g., I live in the country. I live in an apartment. It has one room. There are five people in my family. We have a dog.).

Students work in groups of six. Each student needs a piece of paper. Tell all students to write a sentence, in secret, at the top for prompt

1. They fold the paper down so the sentence is hidden and pass the paper to their right. Without looking, students then write a sentence for 2. The game continues until the student who started the paper receives it back. Students then read the "stories" aloud to their groups. Some will be logical; some will be funny. Ask for volunteers to read some of their stories to the class.

● Extra activity 1: My dream house

Students work in small groups. Each student shows the picture of their dream house from the Student's Book project and explains the key features of the house (without reading directly from their text).

● Extra activity 2: Word train

Play Word train as for page 17 Extra activity 2. Possible words: houseboat, tree house, castle, apartment, room, city, country, street, road.

Review Units 1 and 2

● Extra activity: Sing a song

Sing one of the songs or chants from Units 1 and 2 with the class.

Page 27

● Extra activity: Play a game

Play one of the team games from Units 1 and 2 with the class.

Unit 3

● Extra activity 1: Clocks

Show students your clock. Set and reset the hands and elicit the time. Hand out the plates, clips, and thin cardboard. Students cut out the clock hands, write the numbers on the plate, and attach the clock hands. In pairs, they take turns setting their clocks and saying What time is it? Students write their names on their clocks. Put them in a safe place.

● Extra activity 2: Mime

Students take turns coming to the front and miming their daily routines. Students do the complete mime. Then the class says the actions in the right order, e.g., Lara wakes up. Then she takes a shower ... The student who mimed says Wrong if the class makes a mistake.

● Extra activity 1: What time is it, Mr. Wolf?

You'll need a large space for this activity. Demonstrate the activity. One student (Mr. Wolf) stands at one end of the room, facing the wall. The other students line up at the other end of the room. They creep forward so Mr. Wolf doesn't hear. The aim is to reach Mr. Wolf. Mr. Wolf keeps turning around. When he does, the students freeze. A student asks What time is it, Mr. Wolf? Mr. Wolf responds, e.g., It's eight o'clock and turns back to the wall. One time Mr. Wolf responds It's dinnertime! and runs to catch one of the students. Repeat with a new Mr. Wolf.

● Extra activity 2: Set the time

Hand out the clocks from the previous lesson. If you didn't use them, see page 28 Extra activity 1 for instructions on how to make them.

Put students into groups of four. Each student secretly writes a list of six different times. One student calls out the different times, and the others set the time on their clocks. The first student each time to do it correctly wins a point. At the end of the game, the student in each group with the most points is the winner.

Page 30

● Extra activity 1: About me

Draw the following grid on the board. Elicit more actions and days/times and add them to the table. Elicit example sentences from students and write them on the board.

I	always	watch TV	after school.
	sometimes	do my homework	before school.
	never	go to the park	on Sunday mornings.

In their notebooks, students write six true sentences about what they do. Monitor and support if necessary.

● Extra activity 2: How often?

You will need space for this activity. Students stand up. Point to one corner of the classroom and say Never. Point to another corner and say Sometimes. Point to a third corner and say Always. Alternatively, stick large cards with the words never, sometimes, always on the walls in the appropriate corners if you wish. Call out an activity, e.g., I go swimming on Tuesdays. Students run to the corner that is true for them. Repeat with other activities on different days of the week.

● Extra activity: Team quiz

Divide the class into two teams. Draw a 3 x 3 grid on the board and number the squares 1–9. Teams take turns. Team A chooses a number. Read aloud the appropriate question below. If they answer correctly, put an X in the square. Team B chooses another number. Read aloud the appropriate question. Put an O in their square if they answer correctly. The first team to get a line is the winner.

Questions (answers in parentheses for your reference):

1 How many days are there in a week? (seven)

2 Which two days are the weekend? (Saturday and Sunday)

3 Which days do we have English? (answer will depend on your students' schedule)

4 Which day comes before Saturday? (Friday)

5 Which two days have eight letters? (Thursday and Saturday)

6 Spell "Thursday." (Students spell the word aloud)

7 Which day has seven letters? (Tuesday)

8 Which days do you have math? (answer will depend on your students' schedule)

9 Which day comes after Wednesday? (Thursday)

Page 32

● Extra activity 1: True or false

This activity follows on from the class survey (Student's Book page 32, Activity 15). Students work in groups of four. Each student needs two small pieces of paper. They write True on one and False on another. For the game, students use the sentences they wrote about their friends in their notebooks for Student's Book Activity 15, but they don't show them to the other students. They take turns saying one of the sentences from their notebook: they can read it as it is (true) or they can change the adverb to make it a false sentence. The other students put down a true or false card. The student then reveals the correct answer. Students who predicted correctly win a point. Play continues around the group.

● Extra activity 2: My day

Students use the model from Workbook Activity 12 to write a pictogram text about themselves. Display the texts around the room in groups. Students move around and read each other's work.

Page 33

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Make groups of three. Elicit from students who the three characters in the story are (Lock, Key, Johnny). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

● Extra activity 2: Interview

Students work in pairs. They write a list of questions they would ask Lock and Key if they could interview them. Elicit some examples and write them on the board, e.g., Do you like your job? What's inside your detective box? Who is the pet thief? What time do you usually have lunch? Pairs work with pairs. They use their questions to role-play an interview, with one pair asking questions and the other pair pretending to be Lock and Key. Then they swap roles.

● Extra activity 1: Words in a minute

Tell students they have one minute to write down as many parts of the body as they can. Say Start! and start your stopwatch or timer. Students work in silence. They write as many words as they can on a piece of paper in secret. When the minute is up say Stop! Students swap papers with a partner. Elicit the words and write them on the board (ask students to spell them aloud). Students check their partner's spelling and write the total number of correct words at the bottom of the paper. See who wrote the most correct words in a minute.

● Extra activity 2: Three little words

Tell students to look back at Student's Book page 34 and then close their books. Write three key words on the board, e.g., heart, oxygen, body. A volunteer says a sentence with the words, e.g., The heart takes oxygen to the body. Repeat with the following groups of three words: heart, blood, body (Your heart moves the blood in your body.); heartbeat, slow, sleep (Your heartbeat is slow when you sleep); heartbeat, quick, jump (Your heartbeat is quick when you jump.). If time, students write the sentences in their notebooks. Monitor and help as necessary.

● Extra activity 1: Circle the number

Write a selection of 16 to 20 numbers on the board at a height your students can reach. Choose numbers between 10 and 100, including some that students sometimes mix up (e.g., 15 and 50, 13 and 33, 95 and 59). Divide the class into two teams. Teams line up facing the board. Give a marker to the student at the front of each team. Make sure the markers are different colors. Say one of the numbers on the board. The two students race to circle the number. Whoever gets to the number first circles it. Then the students pass their marker to the next student on their team and go to the back of the line. Repeat with the new students, saying a different number from the board. Repeat until all the numbers are circled. Count the circles in each color. The team with the most circles wins.

● Extra activity 2: Word train

Students look back through this and the previous lesson to find the new words about the topic (the heart). Play Word train as for page 17 Extra activity 2.

● Extra activity 1: Listen and draw

Students each secretly draw a Main Street with five stores on each side. They label the stores. In pairs, they take turns describing their street for their partner to draw. They look and compare.

● Extra activity 2: Patterns

Elicit/write the city vocabulary at random on the board (bank, bus station, café, movie theater, hospital, library, market, parking lot, store, sports center, supermarket, swimming pool, park). In pairs, students sort them by number of syllables and write them in columns in their notebooks. Elicit from the class. Students clap the rhythm of the two-, three-, and four-syllable words (to check correct word stress).

Key: one syllable: bank, store, park; two syllables: café, market; three syllables: bus station, library, hospital, parking lot, sports center, swimming pool; four syllables: supermarket, movie theater

● Extra activity 1: True or false

Say sentences about places in town to the class. Some are true and some are false, e.g., You go to the store to buy clothes (true). You go to the park to borrow a book (false). Play True or false as for page 10 Extra activity 2.

● Extra activity 2: Hot seats

Divide the class into two or three teams, depending on class size. Place one chair for each team at the front of the class, with its back to the board. A student from each team comes to sit on the chair. They must not look at the board. Write a place/store from the lesson on the board, e.g., Bus station. Teams call out clues to their team member without using the word on the board, e.g., You go here to get home. You can catch something from here. The first student to guess wins a point for their team. Repeat with other students and other words. Note: This can be a noisy game, but it's productive noise!

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Display the large sheet of paper with the CD script for Student's Book Activity 7. Make groups of seven. Students choose their characters. Students repeat their roles in chorus. Groups then practice the role play together with actions. More confident groups can perform theirs for the class.

● Extra activity 2: Word search puzzle

Students work in pairs. They choose ten new words from the unit so far. They draw a 12 x 12 grid. They write the words under the grid. Then they write the letters of the words in the grid (horizontally or vertically) and fill the grid in with random letters. Put pairs together to form groups of four. Pairs swap word search puzzles with other pairs. They circle the words and then say each word in a sentence.

Page 39

● Extra activity: Crazy school

Students work in fours. Using must, they write a list of six rules for a crazy school. Monitor to help and check. They read their rules to the class. The class votes for the best crazy list.

Page 40

● Extra activity 1: True or false

Write the following sentences on the board. Add your own ideas, too. Students work in pairs and decide if the sentences are true or false. Check with the class. Elicit what's wrong with the false ones. Note: Answers will vary, depending on the students' experience.

You must catch the bus to school during the week.

You must get up at seven o'clock.

You must do homework every day.

You must feed your pet every day.

You must visit your grandparents on weekends.

You must speak in English in all your classes.

● Extra activity 2: Board slap

Write a selection of words on the board from the four groups in Workbook page 40, Activity 10. There should be about 16 words in all. Play Board slap as for page 22 Extra activity 2.

Page 41

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Make groups of four. Elicit from students who the four characters in the story are (Lock, Key, Mrs. Potts, her friend). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

● Extra activity 2: Mime game

Students work in groups of four. They take turns miming actions for different places in the city. The other students in the group guess. The student who mimed has to say what he/she was doing in the mime after their friends guess the right place. Encourage them to think of mimes different from the usual ones. Groups choose the best ideas from their group and mime them to the class.

Page 42

● Extra activity 1: Problems! Problems!

Students work in pairs or larger groups if appropriate. They use the model in Student's Book Activity 2 to make another similar sum for their classmates. They draw the money as in the Student's Book. Students write the answer(s) on the back.

Display the sums and number them (1, 2, 3, etc.). Students go around the room with their notebooks and write the answer for each sum in their notebooks. Students then take back their sum, say their number (1, 2, 3, etc.), and say the answer.

● Extra activity 2: In the café

Students work in pairs. They study the menu from Workbook Activity 2. Call out questions for them to answer, e.g., 1 You want apple cake and milk. How much is that? ($2.25, two dollars twenty-five) 2 You have three dollars. Can you have an egg salad and chocolate cake? (No, the total is $3.35) Students write the answers. Check with the class at the end. This could also be played as a team game.

● Extra activity 1: Word game

Start a chain. Say I'm at the clothes store. I want to buy ... some jeans. Student 1 says I'm at the clothes store. I want to buy some jeans and ... a jacket. Continue the chain, choosing students at random to add another item. Repeat until there are six or seven items in the sentence. Start another chain.

● Extra activity 2: Word train

Students look back through this and the previous lesson to find the new words about the topic (money and currency). Play Word train as for page 17 Extra activity 2.

Review Units 3 and 4

Page 44

● Extra activity: Sing a song

Sing one of the songs or do one of the chants from Units 3 and 4 with the class.

● Extra activity: Play the game

Hand out Photocopiable activity 4a (page T93) to each student. If they have not played the game previously, they cut out the cards. They color one small part of each card so they know which are theirs after the game. If students played before, hand out their envelopes of cards. Hold up each one in turn and elicit a sentence, e.g., Dirty shoes – You must clean your shoes. Eight cards trigger a response with must (messy bed, hungry dog, dirty shoes, messy desk, long hair, pile of letters, dirty dishes, and jacket on the ground) and four with can (TV, park gates, ice cream cone, movies). Make sure students know the difference between the sentence for each type of card (e.g., bed – You must make your bed, but movies – You can go to the movies).

Students play in pairs. They put their cards face down on the table and mix them up. They take turns. One student turns over two cards and makes the sentence for each one. If the cards are the same, he/she keeps them. If not, he/she turns them face down again. At the end, the student with the most pairs is the winner. If you do not wish to use the cards again, students stick them into their notebooks and write a sentence under each one. Monitor and check for accuracy and appropriacy.

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Divide the class into groups of three. Display the large sheet of paper with the Student's Book Activity 2 dialog on the board. Students choose roles in their groups. Read the dialog aloud with students in role. Students practice the dialog, including miming the actions. More confident groups can change parts of the dialog. Call for volunteers to perform their dialogs to the class.

● Extra activity 2: Label it

Students draw a picture of themselves in their notebooks and label it with the words from Workbook Activity 1.

Page 47

● Extra activity 1: Chant

Teach the following chant to students. When they are confident with the words, make two groups: A and B. They do the chant as a dialog and mime. Students swap roles. Substitute other illnesses. Students repeat the chant in small groups/pairs. Use this activity to review hurts.

A: Hi. How are you?

B: I'm not well.

A: What's the matter?

B: I have a stomachache.

A: Oh, poor you!

B: Yes, it hurts.

● Extra activity 2: Draw and write

Write one of the dialogs from Workbook Activity 4 on the board. Erase words so it looks like this:

What's the matter?

My _____ hurts. I can't _____.

Elicit various possibilities for the blanks so that the dialog makes sense. Students choose how to complete the sentences and draw a picture to illustrate the situation (using Workbook Activity 4 pictures as a model). Fast finishers can write more dialogs.

● Extra activity: Class rules

Students develop their own class rules: two “must,” two “must not.” They work in pairs and write four rules. Then pairs join pairs and they agree on the best four. The groups of four join and agree on their best four. Elicit the rules from the groups, write them on the board, and, as a class, agree on the best six.

● Extra activity 1: Do what I say ...

You need space for this game. Students stand up. Give instructions for students to follow, using imperatives / must / must not, e.g., Walk slowly around the room. You must not touch anyone. Don't walk. You must stand still. Close your eyes. Touch your nose with one finger. Don't look! Open your eyes. Start hopping. You must not talk or laugh!

● Extra activity 2: Consequences

Students work in groups of six. Hand out a piece of paper to each student. They make sure their friends don't see what they're writing. Tell students to write the person's name and where he/she is, e.g., Jim's at school / on the bus / in bed / at home / at the movies. They fold the paper over to hide the writing and pass it to their left. Say What's the matter? They write on the new piece of folded paper, e.g., He has a cough. They fold and pass the paper on again. Continue with the prompts: something he must not do, something he must do, something he can't do, how he feels. When students get their papers back, they open them and read the “story” to their group. Elicit the best stories from groups.

Page 50

● Extra activity 1: Whisper and write

Use the words for illnesses from the unit to play Whisper and write as for page 21 Extra activity.

● Extra activity 2: Rhyming pairs

You need space for this activity. Give each student a piece of paper with one of the words from Workbook page 50 Activity 9 (make sure the words are mixed up so they are not in rhyming pairs). Tell students to read their word, think about the sound, and practice saying it. They must then stand up and find a partner who has a word that rhymes with their word.

Students walk around saying their words to each other. When they find a partner with a rhyming word, they come and check with you, then sit down together. Ask them to write down the pair of words and to try to think of more words that rhyme.

Note: If you have more than 24 students in your class, make sure it is the stronger students who don't have pieces of paper. They walk around the class, too, and help students who are having difficulty finding a partner.

Page 51

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Make groups of four. Elicit from students who the four characters in the story are (Lock, Key, Miss Rich, the waiter). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

● Extra activity 2: Play the game

Hand out Photocopiable activity 5 (page T95) to each student. If you used it before, hand students their envelopes with their cards. If you haven't used it before, tell students to cut out the cards. They make a dot or something similar on the cards so they can identify their own at the end of the game. Elicit that the cards with words and the cards with pictures of illnesses have different shapes.

Demonstrate the game. Turn over a square card (with an illness on). Say a sentence, e.g., I have a cough. A student turns over a triangular card (a word card). They make a sentence using the prompt word, e.g., can – You can watch TV. Check the examples for can/can't are permission, not ability. Keep the illness card and the word card. Repeat, with the student taking an illness card and you taking a word card. Students play in pairs. They put all their cards face down on their desks and take turns starting. Monitor and help.

At the end of the game, elicit some of the students' sentences. If you do not wish to use the cards again, students stick the cards into their notebooks, writing some of the sentences and responses from their game.

● Extra activity 1: Class survey

Tell students they are going to do a class survey about keeping healthy. Elicit questions from students. Encourage them to ask specific questions about things they want to find out. Write six or so questions clearly on the board, e.g., Do you drink water every day? How many hours do you sleep? What vegetables do you like? What fruit do you like? Do you play sports every day? Which ones? What unhealthy things do you eat? Students prepare a simple survey form in their notebooks. They write the questions down the left of the page and make four columns to the right to record four friends' answers. They mingle and ask four friends. They write the friend's name at the top of the column before they write his/her answers (in note form).

Monitor and elicit feedback from students one at a time. They say sentences about their friends, e.g., (Name) drinks a lot of water. He sleeps about eight hours. Elicit some example sentences about healthy habits only.

Students can write about their friends for homework.

● Extra activity 2: Let's be healthy

Students work in groups of four. Hand out large pieces of paper. Each group draws a vertical line down the middle of a piece of paper. They write the title Let's be healthy at the top. At the top of the left column, they write You must not ..., and at the top of the right column You must ... They write ideas of their own or from Workbook Activity 2 in the two columns. Monitor and help students with words if necessary. They can draw pictures, too. Display the posters around the room. Students walk around and look at the posters. They find one idea they didn't think of. Elicit some of these ideas from different groups.

● Extra activity 1: Healthy book quiz

Remember and note some of the activities/days as you monitor students during the project. Students stand up. Say, e.g., Stand up if you eat fruit on Tuesdays. Turn around if you play soccer on Saturdays. Involve as many students as you can in the activities.

● Extra activity 2: Spelling patterns

Write the following words at random on the board: running, run, hopping, hop, swimming, swim, dancing, dance, jumping, jump, walking, walk, eating, eat, skipping, skip, riding, ride, sleeping, sleep. Make three columns. Write run/running at the top of one, dance/dancing at the top of another, and eat/eating at the top of another. Put students in pairs. Tell them to figure out where the other words go (spelling with -ing). Students can check with other pairs. Elicit the answers from the class and write the words in the correct columns. Use the information to review the -ing spelling rules. Key: Column 1: running, hopping, swimming, skipping; Column 2: dancing, riding; Column 3: eating, jumping, walking, sleeping

● Extra activity 1: Spell it

Stick the country flashcards on the board. Letter them a–h. Students study the spellings of the words in their Student's Book for 30 seconds. They close their books. Say, e.g., What's f? Students respond. Ask them to spell it for you. Write the word under the picture. Repeat for the other pictures. Erase words that students found difficult and elicit the spellings again.

● Extra activity 2: Things I enjoy

Brainstorm with students some of the things they enjoy/like/love doing in the country, using the key words from the lesson. Students write six sentences in their notebooks about themselves, e.g., I enjoy going to the country for picnics. I love swimming in the river ...

Page 55

● Extra activity 1: True or false

Say sentences about/from the story from Student's Book page 55 and play True or false as for page 10 Extra activity 2. Possible sentences: Charlie, Lily, and their grandmother are in the park. The blanket's between the river and the trees. They can't eat the bread. The ducks are eating the old bread.

● Extra activity 2: Picture dictation

Describe a scene to students. The first time, they just listen. The second time, they draw a picture. Students compare/check their pictures in groups.

Possible description: There is a big field with a forest behind it. There's a tall tree in the field. Under the tree, two children (a girl and a boy) are sitting on a blanket. They are eating their picnic. Their parents are walking in the field close to the forest. Next to the field there is a river. Some ducks are swimming in the river. A dog is swimming in the river, too.

Page 56

● Extra activity 1: Fill in the blanks

Write the second part of the CD script for Student's Book Activity 7 on the board (narrator "Later" to the end). Leave out the new adjectives (as shown below). Students work in pairs to remember which word goes where. Play the CD. Students listen and check. They write the text in their notebooks.

Scott's _____ and _____. He wants to eat.

Suzy's _____ and _____. She wants a drink.

Grandpa Star is catching a big _____ fish. He's very _____.

Grandma Star's close to the cows in the field. She's very _____. She's drawing a baby cow. It has _____ legs and it's very _____.

Sally isn't happy because her drawing's _____.

Mr. Star's listening to the radio. His music is very _____.

Oh, yes! And finally, Mrs. Star. She's sleeping because she's very _____.

● Extra activity 2: What's the situation?

Elicit other situations and responses to add to the list in Workbook Activity 6 (heavy bags – help, have a temperature – call the doctor, can't find a ruler – give you mine, end of the lesson – erase the board, a lot of books – carry them). Write them on the board. Students work in pairs. They choose one of the situations (or another, with your approval). They practice miming it, e.g., one mimes carrying the heavy bags, and the other comes up and mimes taking them from the student's hands. This is all done in silence. Students take turns performing their mimes. The rest of the class guesses the situation and the suggestion.

● Extra activity: Mime game

Put the slips of paper with the adjectives on them (see "Materials required" page T57) face down on your desk. In turn, students come to the front, take an adjective, and mime it for the class to guess.

● Extra activity 1: Offering help

Divide the class into two groups, A and B. Hand out the sentences you prepared, giving the sentences about problems (e.g., I'm hungry) to As and the offers (Should I ...?) to Bs. Students make pairs, A and B. Student A reads his/her sentence (e.g., I'm hungry). If Student B's offer matches (e.g., Should I make you a sandwich?), they keep together and practice saying the dialog. They can continue the dialog if they have time (e.g., A: Yes, please. B: What kind of sandwich do you like? ...). If the sentences don't match, Student B says I'm sorry, and Student A moves on to ask someone else. The activity continues until all students have found a partner. If you have an odd number of students in your class, two of the students in group A can work together (they share a sentence).

● Extra activity 2: Memory pictures

Students draw two or three pictures in their notebooks for each of the two key phonemes in the lesson (two or three things with the sound /e/ and two or three things with the sound /i:/). This will help reinforce the similarity of sounds, e.g., a picture containing a sheep and some green cheese. Students can make the pictures funny/silly. They label the things in each picture.

Page 59

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Make groups of three. Elicit from students who the three characters in the story are (Lock, Key, Mrs. Potts). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

● Extra activity 2: What I can do

You will need space for this activity. Students each choose one of the Can do sentences from the Workbook. They walk around the room without touching anyone else. Clap your hands. They make pairs. They take turns saying their sentence and demonstrating it, e.g., I can talk about the country. There are fields and trees in the country. We can have a picnic there. Clap your hands. Students move on. Repeat four or five times.

● Extra activity 1: Sharing information

Divide the class in half: A and B. Student As work in pairs. They brainstorm food we get from plants. Student Bs work in pairs. They brainstorm all the other things we get from plants. Monitor and help with new vocabulary. Put Student As into fours. They share their ideas. Do the same with Student Bs. Tell students to make two headings in their notebooks: Food we get from plants and Other things we get from plants. They write their ideas under the relevant heading. Make new pairs: A and B. Students exchange their information and complete the other section in their notebooks. Ask students if they learned new information or new words from this activity.

● Extra activity 2: Favorite foods from plants

Students work individually. They choose/decide their favorite food from the lesson and draw it on a piece of paper. They label it. Display the sheet of paper on the wall. Write the heading Our favorite foods at the top and the categories Fruit, Root, Leaf, and Seed. Hand out poster putty to each student. Students come up in turn, say their favorite food to the class, and stick their piece of paper in the correct place on the sheet of paper (e.g., in the "fruit" category if they have chosen "apple" or in the "seed" category if they have chosen "sunflower"). When all the students have added their pictures to the paper, count the items in each category to see which type of food is the class's favorite.

● Extra activity 1: Project record

In their notebooks, students draw a 6-row x 3-column grid to record the progress of their Student's Book project and that of two other groups. At the top of each column, they write the group names (their own and that of two other groups). For each row, they write six dates (they will check the plants twice weekly for three weeks). Over the period of the next three weeks, they record information in the grid about the plant, e.g., 1 cm, 4 leaves. Underneath the grid, students draw a picture of the carrot top on a plate. They label and date it. Over the next three weeks, they draw the carrot top at least twice more to show how it has grown/changed.

- Extra activity 2: Word train

Students look back through this and the previous lesson to find the new words about the topic (plants, food, and growth). Play Word train as for page 17 Extra activity 2.

Review Units 5 and 6

Page 62

- Extra activity: Sing a song

Sing one of the songs or do one of the chants from Units 5 and 6 with the class.

Page 63

- Extra activity: Play a game

Play one of the team games from Units 5 and 6 with the class. Let the students choose which one.

Unit 7

Page 64

- Extra activity 1: Matching game

Hand out half a sentence from Student's Book Activity 2 listening script to each student. They do a mingling activity. They take turns reading aloud their half sentence to find the person who has the other part of the sentence. When they find their partner, they stand together. Check they have the matching sentence halves. When all students have paired, elicit their sentences.

- Extra activity 2: Animal categories

Draw three columns on the board and write an animal class at the top of each one: mammals, birds, fish. Write an example for each class underneath, using one from the animals in Workbook Activity 1. Check understanding of mammals, etc., and elicit an example for mammal. Students work in pairs. They copy the columns into their notebooks and try to put the animals from Workbook Activity 1 into the right categories. They can ask their friends for help. They can also add other animals they know. Check with the class and write the animals in the columns on the board.

Key: mammals: bat, bear, dolphin, kangaroo, lion, panda, whale; birds: parrot; fish: shark

Page 65

- Extra activity 1: Whisper and draw

Use the animal words to play Whisper and draw as for page 21 Extra activity, but students draw instead of write.

- Extra activity 2: Animal profiles

Put students into groups according to the animals they wrote about for Workbook Activity 4. If you have single students (the only one who wrote about, e.g., a giraffe), they can join another group. Play a game. Make statements. Students react accordingly in their groups, e.g., Stand up if your animal can fly. Put your hands on your head if your animal can swim. Turn around if your animal is gray. Use statements that students didn't use in their texts to make it more fun and challenging.

Page 66

- Extra activity 1: Sentences

Write the adjectives from the Warmer on one side of the board. On the other side, elicit and write the names of classroom objects, e.g., bag, desk, window, pencil, chair, book, ruler, eraser. Students work in pairs. They think of sentences, using the comparative adjectives and the objects. If possible, they use real objects to demonstrate. Go around the room eliciting the sentences. The class decides if they're correct. Students don't write their sentences. This is an oral activity. Check for correct pronunciation of than.

- Extra activity 2: Picture dictation

Describe two (or more) simple pictures to students. They listen the first time. The second time they draw the pictures. They check their pictures in pairs. Elicit information about the pictures back from students to give them practice of the comparative forms. Possible descriptions: 1 There are two monkeys. One monkey is taller and fatter than the other monkey. The smaller monkey is brown. 2 There is a shark and a whale. The shark is longer than the whale, and its teeth are bigger. The whale is fatter than the shark.

Page 67

- Extra activity 1: Our song

Elicit some more ideas for verses of the song from students, e.g., swimming – dolphin, flying – mountain. Students work in groups and write the verse of the song. Groups take turns performing their verses for the class. Groups write their verse in their notebooks and illustrate it.

- Extra activity 2: Finding out

Write the following questions on the board. Change or add your own questions as appropriate.

Find out:

- | | |
|-------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1 Who is taller? | 4 Whose bag is heavier? |
| 2 Who is older? | 5 Whose pencil case is bigger? |
| 3 Whose hair is longer? | 6 Whose fingers are longer? |

Students work in pairs. They compare (stand back to back), ask (birthdays), measure (hair), etc. to find out the answers. Students write the results in their notebooks, e.g., Jenny is taller than me. Jenny's hair is longer than my hair. Provide model sentences on the board if necessary. Elicit some of the results from students.

Page 68

- Extra activity 1: Catch and say

Brainstorm about 12 adjectives on the board in their simple form, e.g., big, tall. Make groups of four. Students stand in a circle. Each group makes a ball from a piece of paper. One student says an adjective from the board, e.g., tall, and throws the ball to another student in the group. That student says the comparative, e.g., taller, and then another simple adjective. The game continues. Students can repeat adjectives from the board or add their own.

- Extra activity 2: Sentences

Students choose six of the comparative adjectives from the word search puzzle in the Workbook and write six sentences using the words in their notebooks. Elicit ideas first with the whole class. Check they remember to use than after the comparative. Students work individually. Monitor and check.

Page 69

- Extra activity 1: Role play

Put students into pairs. Elicit who the two characters in the story are (Lock, Key). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

- Extra activity 2: Animal quiz

Divide the class into nine groups. Demonstrate the activity first for the whole class. Choose a wild animal that is not from this unit, e.g., tiger. With the help of the students, build up a description on the board, e.g., I'm thinking of an animal. It's bigger than a dog, but smaller than an elephant. It has four legs and a tail. It's orange and black. Whisper to each group the name of one of the wild animals from this unit. Give the groups numbers and remember which number is writing about which animal. Students write a description of their animal on a piece of paper, following the model on the board. They put their group number at the top. Collect the pieces of paper and display them around the room. In their groups, students move around the room and guess each animal, writing the number and the animal on a piece of paper. Groups swap answer sheets with other groups. Check with the class by reading aloud each description and eliciting the answer (not from the group who wrote it). The group with the most correct answers is the winner.

● Extra activity 1: Definitions

Ask students to read descriptions 4 and 5 from Student's Book Activity 2. Draw students' attention to the following and write them on the board: It's a place with ... / It's a place where... Divide the class into groups of four. Give each group of four two words from the following list: town, city, country, apartment, house, school, hospital, café, park, library, swimming pool, store, sports center, supermarket. They work quietly and write a definition for each one. Circulate and prompt. They can use the definitions in the book to help them. Groups take turns reading aloud a definition to the class. The other groups write the answers. Groups swap papers. Correct as a class. The group with the most correct answers is the winner. The words must be spelled correctly, too.

● Extra activity 2: The one that doesn't belong

Write the groups of words below on the board. Students work in pairs or groups and decide which one doesn't belong each time. Do an example first for practice. Discuss the answers with the class. Ask for reasons each time, as there may be more than one possibility. Students work in pairs or groups and write at least two more. They swap with another pair/group and answer each other's. Elicit some from the pairs/groups.

- 1 parrot, dog, bat, bear (parrot: a bird; the others are mammals)
- 2 jungle, forest, park, movie theater (movie theater: no trees)
- 3 island, waterfall, river, lake (island: not water)
- 4 dolphin, whale, shark, kangaroo (shark: not a mammal; OR kangaroo: doesn't live in the ocean).

● Extra activity 1: Sharing information

Put students into groups of six (try to ensure the students in each group wrote about different animals for their project). One student in each group tells the others which animal his/her project was on and the two most interesting things they found out. Using the format, the other students ask questions, e.g., Where does it live? What does it eat? After about two minutes, say All change. Another student in the group takes a turn and talks about his/her project. Repeat until all six students have had a chance to talk. Elicit information from the groups, e.g., Paolo. What's Lara's animal? What's interesting about it?

● Extra activity 2: Word train

Students look back through this and the previous lesson to find the new words about the topic (animal habitats). Play Word train as for page 17 Extra activity 2.

Unit 8

● Extra activity 1: Sort the words

Write the following words at random on the board: cloud, cloudy, hot, cold, sun, sunny, rain, rainbow, snow, snowy, wet, wind, windy. Make two columns. Write hot at the top of one and wind at the top of the other. Elicit another example for each column (adjectives in the first column / nouns in the second). Students work in pairs and complete the chart. They check in pairs. Check with the class. Elicit sentences, using the words to check students understand the difference.

Key: adjectives: hot, cloudy, cold, sunny, snowy, wet, windy;
nouns: wind, cloud, sun, rain, rainbow, snow

● Extra activity 2: Our weather

Students copy the weather symbols from Student's Book Activity 3 into their notebooks and write sentences underneath, e.g., It's snowing. / There's a rainbow. They then write a sentence to describe what the weather is like now, e.g., Today it's raining and very windy. They can draw a picture if there is time.

● Extra activity: Matching game

If you didn't do Photocopiable activity 8, hand out the six weather symbols from page T98 to each student. They cut them out, color them, and mark each card so that they know which are theirs. Students work in groups of four. They place all their cards face down on the table and mix them up. They take turns flipping over two cards and saying what the weather is, e.g., It's windy. It's cloudy. If it's a match, the student takes the two cards. If not, the student turns them face down again and the next player takes a turn. The player with the most pairs of cards in their group at the end of the game is the winner.

● Extra activity 1: How many sentences?

Teach/review wasn't/weren't using the Grammar reference section of the Student's Book (see page 87). Put students into pairs. Give the sentence sections to each pair. Set a time limit. Students make as many sentences as they can using the words. They write each sentence they make in their notebooks. Pairs swap notebooks. Elicit the sentences and write them on the board. Pairs correct each other's work. The pair(s) with the most correct sentences is/are the winner(s).

Key: It wasn't very windy yesterday. It is hot and sunny today. They were at school yesterday. She is at home today.

● Extra activity 2: Secret messages

Write the secret message from Workbook Activity 6 on the board. Elicit ideas for other messages from students, using the same model. Students work individually. They use the same code as in the Workbook to write their own message to their friends. Students swap messages and decode them.

Page 75

● Extra activity 1: Weather snakes

Students work in pairs. They make weather snakes (wordsnakes of weather words and associated clothes). They swap weather snakes with another pair and find each other's words. Elicit the words from the class to find out how many words they used all together.

● Extra activity 2: Living language

You need questions and statements from the lesson, cut into single words (see page T75, Materials required). Invite groups of students to come to the front of the class. You need the same number of students as there are words in one of your questions/sentences. Give each student a part of the question/sentence. They arrange themselves in the order of the question/sentence. They say it to the class, and the class confirms if it's right or not. Repeat. Students can work in pairs. They write questions or sentences that they cut up and give to another pair to animate in the same way.

● Extra activity 1: Guessing game

Play a word game to review words from the unit and from Kid's Box AE 3. In pairs, students choose a word they learned in this or a previous unit. Start the game. Write dashes on the board in place of the letters of your word. Draw a stick person at the top of eight steps that lead down to the water and a shark's mouth. Students guess letters. Write them in if they are in the word. If not, write them on the board and move the person one step down for each incorrect guess. The pair of students who guess correctly repeat the game with their word.

● Extra activity 2: Letters

Students use the model on Workbook page 76 to write a different text and draw another picture. They swap and read each other's paragraphs. Display the texts and pictures around the classroom.

Page 77

● Extra activity 1: Role play

Make groups of four. Elicit from students who the four characters in the story are (Lock, Key, Robin Motors, police officer). Do the role play as for page 9 Extra activity 1.

● Extra activity 2: What was the weather like?

Elicit the weather words from students using the flashcards. Students take out the materials from Photocopiable activity 8 (page T98). If you haven't used this activity before, hand out a copy of Photocopiable activity 8 to each student. They color the weather symbols at the bottom of the page and cut them out. Hand out the poster putty. Students work in pairs. It's best if they put a bag upright between them so they can't see each other's picture. Student A secretly sticks the weather symbols where they want on the picture. Student B asks questions about the weather using was, e.g., What was the weather like during your vacation in the mountains? and sticks the appropriate weather symbols on his/her picture according to Student A's replies. When they have finished, they compare pictures. They take the weather symbols off and repeat, with Student B sticking the symbols and Student A asking. If time, students stick the symbols back on their picture and write sentences describing the weather using was, e.g., In the mountains it was cold and snowy.

Page 78

● Extra activity 1: Musical instruments

Students write the four different classes of musical instrument in their notebooks and illustrate each one with one or two examples, e.g., a drawing of a trumpet for Brass.

● Extra activity 2: Musical pictures

Say Listen and draw a picture. Play a short extract from each of the four music CDs (salsa, rock, folk, and opera). Give students time to draw a small picture for each piece of music. They compare in small groups. Discuss with students what they drew and why.

Page 79

● Extra activity 1: Board slap

Write the names of all the instruments that have come up in this and the previous lesson at random on the board. Play Board slap as for page 22 Extra activity 2.

● Extra activity 2: Word train

Students look back through this and the previous lesson to find the new words about the topic (e.g., orchestra, musician). Play Word train as for page 17 Extra activity 2.

Review Units 7 and 8

Page 80

● Extra activity: Sing a song

Sing one of the songs or do one of the chants from Units 7 and 8 with the class.

Page 81

● Extra activity: Play a game

Play one of the team games from Units 7 and 8 with the class. Let the students choose which one.

Values

● Extra activity 1: Act it out

Say Let's act out the story. Demonstrate the activity. Three students come to the front. Let each student choose a character (Daisy, Jane, or Mom). Play the CD for Student's Book page 82, Activity 2 and help them act out the story. Repeat with another group. Divide the class into three groups. Point to one group and say Daisy, another and say Jane, and the other and say Mom.

Play the CD. Students act and join in with their character's lines. Repeat so students play all three roles.

● Extra activity 2: Have one of mine

Hand out two pieces of paper to each student. Tell students to draw a toy they know the word for in English. They need to draw the same toy on both pieces of paper (e.g., two robots). Draw two pictures of a toy yourself. Call a volunteer to the front of the class with his/her pictures. Show the class your pictures, look disappointed, and say, e.g., I have two cars. Encourage the student to show his/her pictures and make a similar sentence (e.g., I have two robots). Say I don't have a robot. Elicit Don't worry. I have two or Have one of mine. Say Thank you! Swap pictures with the volunteer, so you each have two different toys.

Students work in small groups to compare their pictures, swap, and share in the same way. Monitor and encourage them to use language from the lesson (e.g., Do you want my doll? That's a great idea. / Yes, please.).

Page 83

● Extra activity 1: Act it out

Play the CD for Student's Book page 83, Activity 2 for students to act out in pairs.

● Extra activity 2: Make a poster

Write the title Love your city on the board. Brainstorm ways to keep your town/city clean and beautiful and write notes on the board. Students work in groups of three or four. They write rules using the notes on the board and ideas of their own. They can use the sentences in Student's Book page 83, Activity 3 as a model. Monitor, help with language, and check the sentences. Hand each group a large piece of paper. They write the heading Love your city and copy their rules onto the paper. They can add pictures and signs to make a poster. Display the posters around the school/classroom.

Page 84

● Extra activity 1: Act it out

Play the CD for Student's Book page 84, Activity 2 for students to act out in pairs and threes.

● Extra activity 2: What do you say?

Shake hands with a confident student as if you have just finished playing a match together and say You win. Good job! Encourage the student to respond Thank you. Repeat with a different student, this time saying You're really good at tennis (the student responds Thank you. You're good at tennis, too). Mime being in pain and say Ow! to elicit What's the matter? / Can I help you?

Give a student a piece of paper with a phrase on (see Materials required on page T84). He/she stands at the front of the class and says a sentence or does a mime to get the rest of the class to say what is on the paper (e.g., if the paper says Don't touch the ball! the student mimes picking up a soccer ball and then looking as if he/she has done something wrong). Students raise their hands to guess. When a student says the correct sentence, he/she stands up and takes the next piece of paper.

● Extra activity 1: Act it out

Play the CD for Student's Book page 85, Activity 2 for students to act out in pairs.

● Extra activity 2: Class poster

Write the title Help the world on the board. Brainstorm suggestions for helping the environment and write them on the board as sentences, e.g., Walk to school. Turn off the lights when you leave a room. Take bags when you go shopping. Catch a bus. Students work in pairs or small groups. Assign a sentence from the board to each pair/group. They design a sign or a picture to illustrate their sentence. Monitor and ask about / help with ideas. Students write the sentence below their picture as a caption. Put all the signs/pictures together and display them on a class poster. You could ask different students to each make a large letter for the title Help the world for the poster.
